

NAZI PROPAGANDA INDICATES ROMANIA WILL BE THE NEXT OFFICIALLY TO BE BROUGHT UNDER THEIR CONTROL

Bucharest Dispatch Says Premier Antonescu, and His Nephew and Foreign Staff Have Left for Conference at Hitler's Headquarters.

By John E. Lee
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, Mar. 23.—German-controlled propaganda outlets, issuing their dispatches while Nazi airborne legions were reported seizing control of the last remaining Bulgarian railways and telephone exchanges, hinted broadly today that Romania will be the next officially to undergo complete occupation.

The Vichy radio, which broadcasts under strict German censorship, took the lead in insinuating that the present Romanian Government will be ousted, presumably for allegedly seeking a separate path out of the war.

In a Bucharest dispatch, the station reported that Premier Marshal Ion Antonescu and his nephew, Professor Mihail Antonescu, Vice-Premier and Foreign Minister, have left the Romanian capital to attend "a most important conference" at Hitler's headquarters.

Precisely such a conference preceded the occupation of Hungary, now ruled by a puppet cabinet. The enemy-controlled dispatch was viewed by seasoned observers as possible back-handed confirmation of earlier reports that the German occupation of Romania already is under way.

The Nazi drive into Bulgaria meanwhile was reported to have resulted in the seizure of the Russian Embassy in Sofia and came only a few hours after the German-dominated inauguration of a Quisling administration in Hungary.

GOV. MAY MAKE KNOWN SPECIAL SESSION TODAY

Announcement Expected at News Conference Today By Chief Executive

COMMITTEE TO REPORT

HARRISBURG, Mar. 23.—(INS)—Announcement may be made today by Gov. Edward Martin on whether he will reconvene the General Assembly in special session to revise the absentee balloting laws for members of the armed forces.

A decision on the action to be taken may be forthcoming this afternoon at the Governor's regularly-scheduled news conference.

Secretary of the Commonwealth Charles M. Morrison, member of a three-man committee appointed by the Governor, indicated that a report would be made this morning on whether a special session was necessary. Other members of the committee besides Morrison, who administers the election laws, are attorney general James H. Duff and deputy secretary of highways Ray F. Smock.

The three officials were asked by the Governor to study the question and advise him whether it was permissible for him to liberalize the election laws under the provisions of the State War Powers Act, enacted in 1943. The wartime law permits the chief executive to suspend the provisions of any act hindering the war effort upon the request of Federal officials and with the assent of a group of legislative officers.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT
(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

"Double Talk"

Washington, Mar. 23.—Unhappily, politics in this country is such that complete candor upon the part of candidates for even the highest office is practically impossible. Chiefly, this is because of the numerous racial, religious, vocational, sectional and other special-interest groups which compose so large a part of the electorate.

EVEN THOSE who seem the frankest are never wholly so. For example, there is Mr. Wilkie, who is talking much more than all other aspirants for the Presidency and has now begun to call on Governor Dewey to come out and "debate" the issues. But he, himself, if silent as to how he would raise the greatly increased tax revenue he advocates and is very mute, indeed, upon such vital subjects as the national service act, opposed by union labor, and the "Little Steel" formula, with which it seeks to alter Administration stabilization policy. Nor, so far as can be ascertained, has he been plain-spoken on the question of how he would end strikes in defense plants during the war.

THIS IS not said in criticism of Mr. Wilkie. The charge of lack of candor applies, perhaps, in greater degree to other aspirants in the two parties, not only for the Presidency but for other offices, too. The truth is that the nature, variety and prejudices of the great mass of American voters inevitably tend to make hypocrites of the most honest of candidates. Privately, no one in politics denies this. It is only in public that the pretense of unadulterated sincerity is maintained. This is, of course, an unpalatable statement. It will be vigorously denied by the breast-beaters in both parties. But, it is none the less true.

BRISTOL LODGE OF ELKS MAKES GENEROUS CONTRIBUTION TO RED CROSS WAR FUND BEING RAISED BY THE BRISTOL BRANCH

Organizations which have been appealed to for contributions for the Red Cross War Fund are contributing to this worthy cause. On Monday night, Bristol Lodge, No. 970, B. P. O. E., meeting in regular session in the Elks Home, here, voted a contribution of $100.

This generous donation of the Elks is going to help put the drive $100 nearer to the quota which has been set for the Bristol Branch.

Many of the fraternal organizations of this area have charity as one of their cardinal principles and they are living up to this motto by aiding the Red Cross War Fund.

Numerous other organizations are yet to be heard from and it is anticipated that they will give their usual generous support to the War Fund and do their part in putting the drive nearer to the goal which has been set for this district.

Through neutral international Red Cross facilities local Red Cross chapters are the principal channel of communication between the people of the United States and friends, relatives and American nationals in enemy and enemy-occupied countries today.

More than a million and a half messages, welfare inquiries and replies concerning civilians have been handled by local Red Cross chapters throughout the country since all regular channels of communication were cut off by war.

Messages run the gamut of human emotions, reflecting both tragedy and humor in the brief glimpses they give of life behind the lines in belligerent nations.

From France recently came a message: "Circumstances difficult. Hope to see you soon under more favorable conditions." And from Holland word was received by relatives in California, "Maintenance grave. Answer through Red Cross."

Families separated by the war and anxious for the welfare of loved ones from whom they have heard nothing since the regular communication channels were closed are grateful for any news at all, whether good or bad, which will relieve the strain of long uncertainty.

From one small community in this country went this message to someone in Germany, "Hope you are well. Everything all right with us." And the reply came back, "Happy to get your lines. Everyone is well. Only my brother is dead so far."

Because of censorship messages are restricted to personal news but it often happens that there is more significance in what is not written than in the actual words. One such message said briefly: "Parents are sent away. No news from them. I had to stay here working."

Whether or not the parents had been sent away to a concentration camp, moved in a mass evacuation to another country or whether they might have suffered an even worse fate, the relatives could only guess.

Relief over receiving long looked-for news frequently brings jubilant replies, particularly from persons in this country to their less fortunate relatives abroad.

An Italian in this country almost overcome with emotion when a message was finally received from his father in Italy replied, "Happy news of you. Here children healthy, myself peppy, now an office big shot, liked and respected. Your smiling, loving son."

LT. NELSON D. FLACK IS FOUND IN PACIFIC

Fighter Plane Pilot Missing Since the Middle of February

NO DETAILS ARE GIVEN

JAMISON, Mar. 23.—Almost a month after they were informed their son, First Lieut. Nelson D. Flack, Jr., was missing in the New Guinea area in the South Pacific, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson D. Flack, Bridge Valley, near here, on Saturday evening received a telegram from the War Department with the information their son had been located in the South Pacific.

The telegram also contained the information that Lt. Flack, who is 29 years old, had been in touch with Army authorities and that the parents could expect to receive word from him in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Flack received word on Friday, February 25th, that their son was missing since February 14. Whereabouts of the young man, who before his enlistment into the Army Air Corps, was an employee of the Brewster plant, near Johnsville, have not as yet been learned, but it is expected in the communication he will be able to give his parents some information.

Lt. Flack, who was graduated from Hatboro high school in 1941, was a pilot of a fighter plane in the South Pacific. Whether he was compelled to make a forced landing because of mechanical defects to his fighter plane, or whether he was forced down while in combat with the Japs is not known. The telegram, which arrived at the Flack home on Saturday evening, did not state whether Lt. Flack had been wounded.

The young man, who was scheduled to be promoted to the rank of captain, was graduated from the West Coast Training Center of the Army Air Corps at Luke Field, Ariz.

During one of his furloughs home the latter part of 1942 fire broke out in the Flack home with the result that it was badly damaged.

CONNELLSVILLE.—(INS)—Mayor Abe I. Daniels celebrated his first month in office by donating his entire salary, $100, to the Salvation Army canteen for service men.

EDDINGTON PILOT IS HURT IN PLANE CRASH

A C Leroy Dapp Suffers A Sprained Ankle When Plane Crashes

ON ROUTINE FLIGHT

EDDINGTON, Mar. 23.—A C Leroy Dapp, 21, was injured when his training plane was completely destroyed in a crash near Oak Hill, Ark., at 11:50 Monday night, when the pilot, who reported he was lost, ran out of gas.

Dapp, who is stationed at Majors field, Greenville, Tex., said that he climbed out on the wing of his plane after setting it for glide at 3,000 feet and let the wind lift him off.

His only injury, Dr. Curtis Bramblett, Broken Bow, reports, was a sprained ankle suffered when he landed in the dark in Lukfata creek.

Dapp was on routine night flight training, practicing taking off, flying set distances and returning to the field, he said. He was unable to find a flying beam, and his base would not answer his radio signals.

He was about one and one-half miles from his plane when he landed, and set off in search of it. Mrs. Gene Harris, wife of the Broken Bow chief of police, found the young pilot and he reached his plane at 1:45 a. m.

The motor, wings and wheels were torn completely free of the fuselage and thrown several feet as the ship sheared off a large stump and flattened small trees near the edge of a field belonging to Ben Knebusch. It was a two-place, low-winged metal training plane.

W. H. Claborn, who lived within a few hundred feet of where the plane crashed, was the first to reach it, less than four minutes after the crash. He hurried to it as soon as possible to give aid to anyone injured, he said.

Some of the other neighbors reported the crash to Broken Bow officers, and the search was instituted for the pilot.

Deputy Rushing Rhoden investigated, and Ira Bone was present to represent the Red Cross.

A wrecking crew came after the plane Tuesday.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Multipronged Assault on Northwestern Germany

London.—A multipronged assault by mighty squadrons of U. S. heavy bombers was carried out in daylight today against Nazi aircraft centers in northwestern Germany and the Reich also was believed to have been raided by Mediterranean-based bombers.

Confirmation that powerful forces of Yank bombers, escorted in strength by American fighters, had hammered vital Luftwaffe centers in northwestern Germany came shortly after the British Air Ministry announced that more than 1,000 night bombers had attacked Frankfurt.

Strong forces of U. S. fighter-escorted bombers attacked the German bomber base at Handerz, the Luftwaffe station at Achmer and a large aircraft plant at Werl, in Westphalia, 18 miles northeast of Dortmund. Bombs were dropped on the Brunswick district, site of Nazi aircraft plants, and elsewhere, the communique from U. S. Army Air Force Headquarters said.

Allied Troops Fight Japanese Invasion Forces

New Delhi.—Allied troops fought fierce defensive actions today against Japanese invasion forces which already have crossed the border into India in a thrust apparently aimed at hamstringing other Anglo-American offensives to the south.

A late communique from Lord Louis Mountbatten reported tersely that "operations against the Japanese who crossed the Chindwin river are continuing."

The official statement thus continued to give but sketchy details of the fighting against the tank and artillery-supported Japanese columns, but unofficial dispatches indicated that the battle now is intense. Unconfirmed rumors said that the enemy's advance columns had pushed to within 28 miles of Imphal, capital of the State of Manipur and apparently the immediate objective of the Japanese drive.

"And with the poet I will say 'We need more men like you today. 'I'll pray that you will always hear 'The truth no matter how hard to bear. 'I'll pray you tolerance and mirth, 'Love of mankind on this poor earth— 'Wear Justice ever in thy heart— 'God Bless you for the man thou art."

BRISTOL MAN LEFT COUNTY PRISON TO HAVE BLOOD TYPED

David Bowker Taken Out of Jail in Custody of Prison Guard

ON JUDGE'S ORDER

Blood Was Not Proper Type So Bowker Returned To Jail

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 23.—The first time that a prisoner has been taken from the Bucks County Prison in order to give a blood transfusion, occurred here yesterday by virtue of a court order signed by Judge Calvin S. Boyer.

The prisoner was David Bowker, 22, of 403 Pond St., Bristol, who is serving one to five years on a burglary charge, and will be eligible for parole shortly.

The appeal came from the Abington Memorial Hospital where Bowker's sister, Madeline, 20, had undergone an operation and required a blood transfusion.

Bowker was taken by a prison guard, Carl Schmeig, to the Doylestown Emergency Hospital, where his blood was typed, but it was not the type desired for his sister, so that the trip to Abington Hospital was not necessary.

Mr. Maverick said: "What we want to do is take the mystery out of technology for the small manufacturer."

"The TAS program means more jobs, higher production, and a better standard of living," he added.

Henry G. Siegrist, district manager for the Smaller War Plants Corporation, is located in Trenton through whose office the Bristol area is served. His office is at 622 Broad Street Bank Building, Trenton, N. J.

CENSORSHIP IN JAPAN

Briefly, the center of interest in the Pacific has shifted from the outer rim of Allied operations back to the place where they started—the Solomon Islands. Japanese forces in that area are isolated. They have little hope of receiving either reinforcements or supplies. On Bougainville alone it is estimated that 22,000 Japs are waiting for the end. All that American troops need to do is keep them there.

A few days ago some of the Japanese on that island decided that death in battle was preferable to starvation. Approximately 3,000 of them launched a suicidal attack on Americans, charging into deadly machine gun fire. When they finally retired, they left behind 1,000 dead.

Perhaps there will be other sorties. But it is believed that this battle was the last gasp of a doomed army. Tokyo censorship keeps such news from the people of Japan. The Tokyo radio broadcasts lies to the effect that two of the three Allied airfields have been captured and that the third is under attack. The Nips at home are not permitted to learn that their men must either surrender or starve.

This censorship may suffice for a period of time, but soon the Tokyo propagandists will have more bad news to cover up. Rabaul is a ruin and American amphibious forces are creeping steadily toward Truk.

GASTRONOMIC HABITS

Bad gastronomic habits rather than food shortages are the cause of most of America's food problems, declares Prof. Harry Taub, head of Columbia University's College of Pharmacy. Professor Taub recently completed a survey of wartime diets in this country. But a conclusion that the art of sandwich making is now taught in pharmacy schools probably is erroneous.

Despite campaigns to make the public aware of new foods, balanced meals and food substitutes, says Professor Taub, people have failed to improve their eating habits. It will take years, he fears, to re-educate the nation, since eating habits are fundamental and hard to break. Instead of trying new foods, people seem to prefer vitamin pills.

The Professor suggests an educational program to train children in the schools in the nutritive value of foods. That, he is confident, will help the next generation of Americans. He is doubtful whether this generation will change its habits unless forced to do so by scarcity.

Professor Taub predicts American exports of meats, grains and concentrated foods will continue for years. "We may have to cut down eventually the amount of food we eat," he concludes. "This will not be harmful in any way. It will modify one of our worst habits—overeating."

Well, eating—or overeating—is an American tradition. It will be interesting to note whether the American people will agree to its long-continued abridgement.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

which Vice-President Henry Wallace has so recently given. Certainly, Mr. Wallace is one of the most honest men in politics. However foggy and unsound his views, he is generally conceded to be more than averagely high-minded. Yet, last week he performed in a way extremely typical of the ordinary politician seeking to hold on to his job. In an unprecedented attempt to reach the widest possible audience, he personally sent cards to all radio stations asking if they wanted free records of the speech he was to deliver to the American Business Congress in New York last Friday. About 579 of the 800 stations accepted. Not all of these use these records but many did.

UPON ANALYSIS, however, it appeared that there were striking differences between the records and the actual speech. To the business men Mr. Wallace's words were far less harsh than those later sent out on the records. For example, on the records he declared that "the present high concentration of industry in New York City is itself incompatible with the enterprise, for only large national corporations have access on reasonable terms to that market." The prepared speech to the business men did not include this sentence. Various other similar discrepancies were noted by those who compared the records with the speech.

IN BRIEF, Mr. Wallace was much more vehement and anti-business on the records than he was in his manuscript. In the records he made a stronger appeal for his special concern, the "common man." To his New York audience his remarks were considerably tempered and the accent was much less emphatic on the "common man." The contrast was marked all the way through, even in the introduction. Clearly the modification had been made with a view of appealing to special groups other than the one before which the speech was made and which the records were supposed to reproduce exactly. They were so plainly "doctored" that various newspapers editorially referred to it as "double talk."

FROM THE detached viewpoint of this would seem an indefensible tactic.

thing to have done. It would seem the act of a trimming politician anxious to ingratiate himself with conflicting or at any rate, different groups, and uncandid with all. That so personally upright a man as Mr. Wallace could bring himself to do this kind of thing is a pretty savage commentary upon the ethical standards of our public life. Undoubtedly, the two-faced character of the performance did not occur to Mr. Wallace. No one thinks that he would deliberately stoop to such deception in his personal life. Apparently the only way in which the "double talk" can be reconciled with Mr. Wallace's personal integrity is on the theory that deceit of this kind in politics is so much a matter of course that men who in private life would be revolted by it have no qualms at all about such incidents in their public life.

IT IS unfortunate for Mr. Wallace that the records and his manuscript could be compared so quickly and so publicly. If rather spoils the picture painted by his ardent friends as the great, fearless liberal who seizes to compromise a principle. And it rather encourages cynical comment upon his recent fervent remark following the somewhat vague promise of the President of "justice" for the Jews in Palestine, that he hoped to see a "J. V. A. (Jordan Valley Authority) in Palestine which would cause the desert to bloom like the rose in the interests of the 'common man'."

But one should not be too hard on Mr. Wallace for his "double talk." Men holding ever higher office than the one he holds now have been guilty of the same thing, and will be again. Also it is true that while, perhaps, they will not be so publicly exposed none of the gentlemen who are now aspiring to either Presidency or Vice-Presidency has a record for unswerving consistency and complete candor in his public utterances. They may be able to laugh at poor Mr. Wallace for being caught so far off base, but not one is in position really to throw stones at him.

ON THE SCREENS

"Cry Havoc," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film now showing at the Grand Theatre, is an intense and gripping drama realistically depicting the heroism of thirteen women who stayed behind with the wounded during General MacArthur's delaying withdrawal from the Philippines.

Margaret Sullivan, Ann Southern and Joan Blondell star as three of the courageous women whose confidence in their country never wavers. At a base hospital in Bataan, nurses and nurses' aides are desperately needed to care for the wounded. Fay Bainter, Margaret Sullivan and Marsha Hunt are the only remaining workers in their unit. Six girls volunteer to help them. These girls are from all walks of life but united by a common cause.

From the very first friction develops between Ann Southern, a good-hearted but wise-cracking girl, and Margaret Sullivan. They are both in love with the same man. It is not until he is killed in action that Ann learns he was secretly married to Margaret. With this disclosure all their differences are patched up.

and a message from a man in land to his mother in this country. "Happy to know you are all, my New York is so far away. Family and I are O.K. Have a lot to tell you. Write me at The Hague, Cheerful!" by return mail went back to his mother, with her consent of twenty-five words only. "Glad to hear from you. Wish you would write me instead of printing so many really know it is you who are me."

Messages and welfare inquiries to persons in this country to their relatives and friends in any and enemy-occupied countries are accepted by transmittal all local Red Cross chapters, communication originating in the enemy countries and the replies to messages and inquiries also as through the local chapters or delivery to the addressees.

This Red Cross communication service is given without charge to all persons wishing to get in touch with relatives and friends in countries where regular mail channels are closed.

New methods of vegetable culture will be introduced. The various means of controlling pests and insects will also be discussed. The course will cover the entire field of home vegetable production, and is open to both town and country people from Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

A supper party was given at the Waterwheel Inn Tavern, near Doylestown, by Mrs. John G. Fetter, of Lahaska, worthy matron of Doylestown Chapter, No. 327, O. E. S., who entertained the officers, committee chairmen, and past matrons of the chapter. The menu, decorations, favors, and music were in keeping with St. Patrick's Day.

At the conclusion of the supper, Mrs. Fetter presented a painting, the work of George W. Sotter, Hollisong. The presentation was made by Mrs. Helen C. Henry, and the gift was given by the officers, committee chairmen and past matrons, as a farewell gift to the worthy matron, who will retire from office on March 28th, when installation of officers will be held.

Heavenly Father, Thou who art the author and sustainer of life, from Whom we came, and in Whom we live and move and have our being, and to Whom we shall go, we pray that our souls may be conscious of the larger life of which we are a part, that we may find its deepest realities, understand its eternal principles, experience its mighty forces, and move with its persistent current toward its divine goal, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

James, Doylestown, will give a talk on birds of the season. The meeting will be featured also by a flower show in miniature arrangements.
